FROM THE BY-LAWS

The corporation shall be known as "Massachusetts Institute of Technology Women's Association."

The object of the Association shall be to promote education, unity, and good fellowship among women graduates and past students of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and to advance the cause of education and the general welfare of women undergraduates.

Any woman graduate or past student of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology shall be eligible for membership, and may become a member upon payment of the annual dues of one dollar.

INTRODUCTION

It is difficult to realize today, forty-three years after Ellen Swallow, the first woman graduate, received her degree of Bachelor of Science (in Chemistry) from the Institute of Technology, that the opportunities open to women for the study of science have not always been as free from restrictions as they appear to be now.

The story of such pioneers in the education of women as Maria Mitchell, Alice Palmer, and our own Ellen Swallow, better known as Ellen H. Richards, reads like a tale from a far distant past.

They found the education of women entrenched in prejudice and convention, but with clear vision they labored ceaselessly and successfully to achieve for women the abundance of opportunity which it has been our privilege to enjoy.

On December 10, 1870, the day the Faculty recommended to the Corporation of the Institute the admission of Miss Swallow as a special student in Chemistry, this resolution is recorded: "That the Faculty are of the opinion that the admission of women as special students is as yet in the nature of an experiment, that each application should be acted on upon its own merits, and that no general action or change of the former policy is at present expedient."

On July 11, 1871, Miss Swallow writes, "I hope in a quiet way I am winning a way which others will keep open." The history of her subsequent life is a story of "winning the way."

The opening of the Woman's Laboratory of the Institute is a chapter in itself. In October, 1877, Mrs. Richards reported to the Woman's Education Association: "Greater results have already accrued from the opening of the laboratory than could have been thought possible a year ago, since every department of the Institute is open to young women; and any one who can pay her fees and pass the entrance examination can there obtain scientific education."

From that day to this women have been passing within the doors of the Institute; many have won its degrees, but more have gained here the quality of precision to fill the requirements of special work in their chosen fields. Every woman acknowledges her debt of gratitude to her whose wise brain and willing hand opened the way.

Whoever under its roof has found the spirit of science truly interpreted, who has here learned the supremacy of fact over fancy and the value of "work and practical work" in its ennobling power, whether her stay has been long or short, is entitled to be called a Technology woman.

This sheaf of names has been gathered, not to measure in volume the influence which the opening of the Technology courses to women has had upon education, but merely to indicate how far-reaching and diverse has been this influence both upon the content of education and upon the lives of educated women.

The influence of such women in a community cannot be calculated from the number of public positions held or degrees acquired. It is, however, worthy of note that this influence has been largely exerted along lines for the betterment of the living conditions of humanity.

The tasks of the next forty years will not be those of the years that are past.

It is scarcely to be believed that the way already won will ever be lost; but problems there will be, perhaps more difficult, perhaps more subtle, than the early ones, and for their solution there will more and more be needed the trained hand and mind, the will to do and the intelligence to direct. May there always be Technology women to the fore, "winning a way which others will keep open."

MABEL KEYES BABCOCK.

FELLOWSHIPS

May 15, 1916

Bigelow, Gertrude.
A. C. A. Fellowship, School of Housekeeping, Boston, 1900–01.

Blood, Alice Frances.
Robinson Fellowship, Yale, 1908–09. Yale University Fellowship, 1909–10.

Boveri, Mrs. Theodor.
Fellowship at Bryn Mawr.

Dodd, Margaret Eliot.
Graduate work in Biology, 1896, M. I. T.

Dolbear, Katherine Ella.
Fellowship in Biology, Clark University, Worcester, Mass., 1912–13.

Hall, Mrs. Robert William.
Bennett Fellowship, University of Pennsylvania.

Locke, Mrs. Walter Leonard.
Fellowship, School of Housekeeping, Boston. Diploma in Home Economics, Teachers College, New York, 1899.

Maltby, Margaret Eliza.
M. I. T. European Graduate Fellowship, 1893–95. Association of Collegiate Alumnæ European Fellowship, 1895–96.

Newkirk, Eliza Jacobus.
Fellowship from Wellesley College for two years' study at M. I. T. and one year's study and travel abroad.

Parker, Emma Harriet.
Fellowship in Chemistry, Bryn Mawr, 1893–94.

Patterson, Julia C.
Women's Education Association Fellowship, Simmons College, Boston, 1907–08.

Peabody, Susan Wade.
Fellow in Political Science, University of Chicago, 1899–1901.

Robinson, Mrs. Alfred Brooks.
Scholarship, Johns Hopkins Medical College, 1895–96.

Rohde, Alice.
Mary Putnam Jacobi Fellowship, 1910–12. Graduate work in Organic Chemistry, Berlin, Germany.

SMITH, SARAH EFFIE.
Class of '86 Fellowship, Mt. Holyoke College; used for study in Europe.

TALBOT, MARION.
Fellow of American Association for Advancement of Science.

WALMSLEY, ALICE FREEMAN.
Fellowship in Economics, Wellesley College, 1906–07.

WEEKS, ANGELINA LOUISA.
Honorary Scholar at Clark University, Worcester, two years.

WELLMAN, MABEL THACHER.
Fellowship in the Department of Household Administration at the University of Chicago, one year.

WOMEN HOLDING COLLEGE POSITIONS

Barrows, Anna.
Instructor, Teachers College, Columbia University, New York, N. Y.

Bates, Sarah Loveland.
Instructor, Home Economics, New Hampshire College Extension Service, Durham, N. H.

Bevier, Isabel.
Director of Courses in Household Science, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

Blood, Alice Frances.
Associate Professor, Household Economics, Simmons College, Boston, Mass.

Blunt, Katherine.
Assistant Professor of Food Chemistry, Home Economics, University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.

Bragg, Charlotte Almira.
Associate Professor of Chemistry, Wellesley, Mass.

Burr, Helen Louise.
Dean of Women, Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash.

Davis, Grace Evangeline.
Associate Professor in Physics, Wellesley, Mass.

Duff, Ellen L. (Sister Loretto Basil).
Teacher of Economics, St. Elizabeth's College, Convent Station, New Jersey.
